THE INDECATUR

Decatur High School
Decatur, Georgia

Jimmy Miller, Editor-in-Chief
Jim Lemly, Associate Editor

"He left the past year's dwelling for the new.
 Stole with soft step its shining archway through,
 Built up its idle door,
 Stretched in his last-found home, and knew the old no more."

"The Chambered Nautilus"
 Oliver Wendell Holmes

Opening a new building of any kind brings to mind the door as an instrument of ingress. Looking around, the 1966 INDECATUR Staff found that there were many opportunities to use doors to convey to the reader of this book the special feeling that the students and teachers had for the new school during the 1965-1966 school year. Opening ceremonies for the new Decatur High School building on August 29 featured the opening of the doors with Student Council Co-Presidents Kathleen Brewer and Robert Vining cutting the blue and gold ribbon that sealed the new school shut. When the ribbon was cut, the door swung open to a new world for Decatur High School.

Most noticeable of the new features was the air conditioning, for it was a very hot day. As the crowds filed through the doors, they walked into a dream-come-true of bright lights, floors that did not squeak, wide hallways, and a shiny new look on every hand. The physical facilities were as different from the old ones as years of inconvenience could wish them to be.

A new principal and a new assistant principal were greeting the people of Decatur who had come out to see the building they were buying for their youngsters. The teachers, the townspeople, and the students toured the building and seemed to find it more than they had even hoped it would be.

The first day of classes brought some confusion in the halls and in the cafeteria, but a day or so of adjustments made things right, and classes settled down to the accustomed routine.

Though most of us believed that everything would be completely different this year, most things remained the same. This is perhaps the greatest thrill we experience in our sojourn on this campus. From the eighth grade we have observed the customs and events that took place here. We have come to have respect for the countless roles in our daily drama. Everybody knows that there will be Student Council officers, class officers, a Homecoming Queen, a Miss INDECATUR, but we seldom pause to reflect on who fills these roles until the magic day when we suddenly realize that we ourselves are in the position we have for years respected, admired, coveted, yet did not dare to hope for. Being suddenly thrust into one of these roles gives us a new perspective, a view we had not imagined before. We find that we have opened a door to a room which makes so much difference that we will never be the same again.

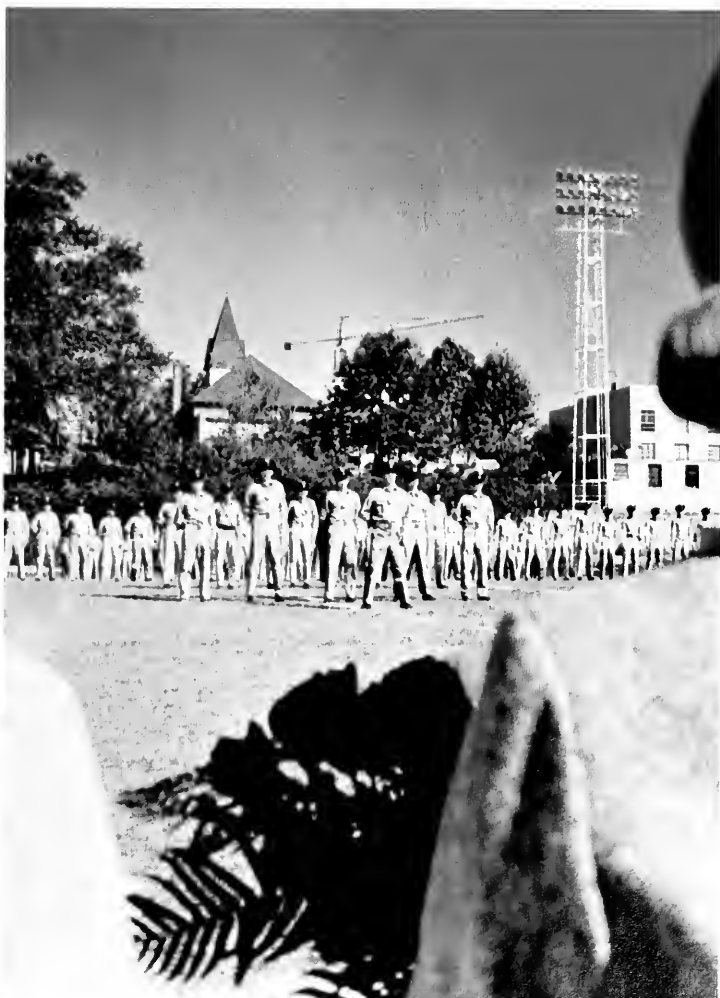

Many such doors have been opened at Decatur High School this year. In these pages we attempt to record the key events of this year of doors.

One of the most cherished aspects of life at Decatur High School is the series of activities grouped around the ROTC program. The colorful parades, the spectacle of Sabre Day, the tension of a long-awaited inspection, the pure fun of breaking formation and running with a laughing army around you—all of these and much, much more are the result of having one day opened the door to enrollment in ROTC.

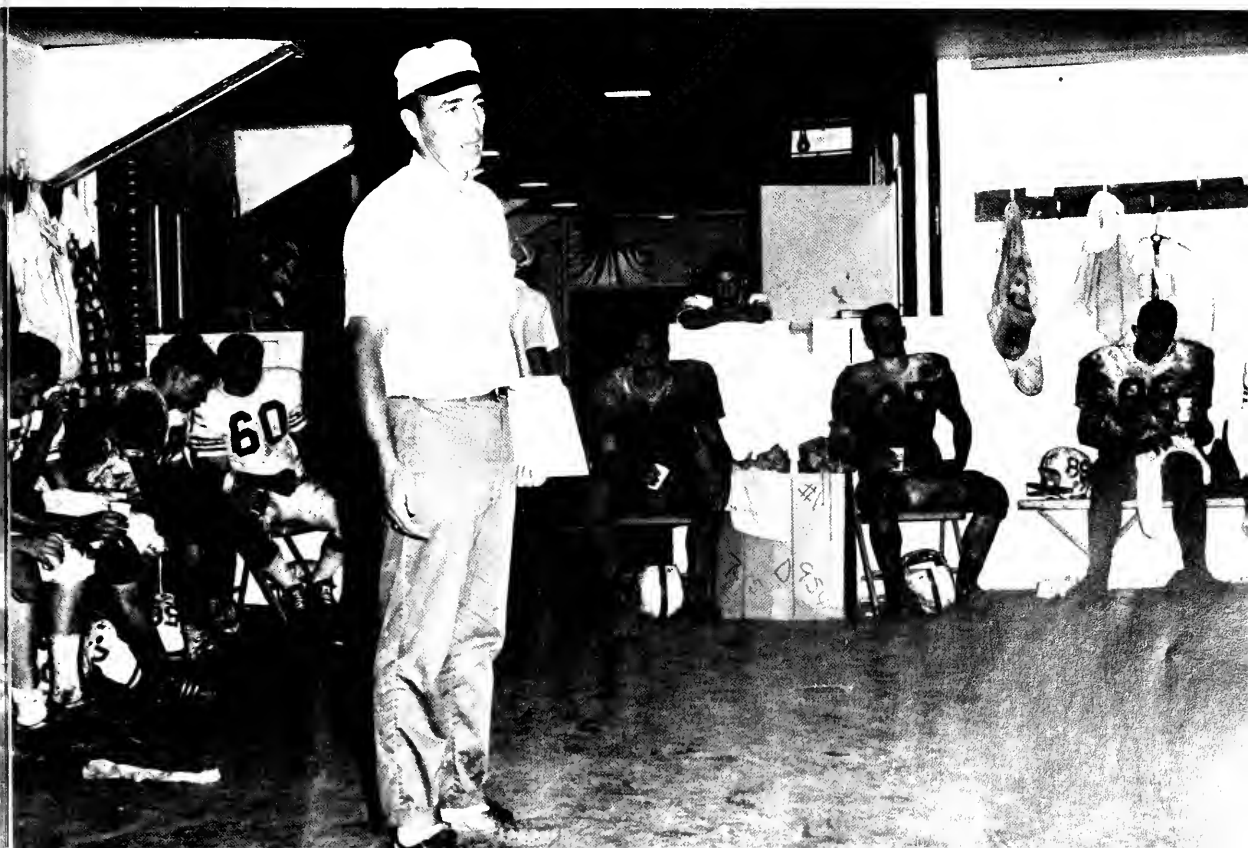

The rush of fall activities centers around the football season, which brings with it Homecoming. There is an almost unbelievable amount of preparation for every football game, but Homecoming calls for ten times as much preparation as the others—the pain of rehearsing the drill team routines for the game, lining up for the parade; decorating your car, hoping to break into the line of cars at a good spot; and after other activities have ceased, finding the Highwaymen concert great entertainment. Resting at last from Homecoming, one finds that Stunt Night is almost at hand. Then on that crowded, slow-moving, frantic, wonderful night to crown the fall activities, one finds that weeks of hard work have paid off. One has opened the door to responsibility and participation, finding it challenging, tiring, and exciting.

Football means the world to us at Decatur in the fall. The door may be to the bleachers to observe, to the field at the kickoff, or to the sidelines where you can say, "Y'all Yell!", or it may be the welcome door to the dressing room at the half where you can rest a few minutes from the muddy struggle. Whether it is a door to victory or defeat, it is a door that leads us to more love for Decatur High School.

Though school activity takes most of our time, we know that it is not all that is happening in our changing town. The beauty we are accustomed to remains. Decatur is still a city of homes, schools, and churches. Now a new beauty is joining the old in the construction we see on every side. Decatur is a city we have loved. Its old doorways are our faithful friends. We welcome the opportunities that lie behind the new ones.

Decatur people are neighborly people, and it is a custom of long standing here that we pay regular calls at the door of our sister city, Atlanta. We are an important part of life in Metropolitan Atlanta, and the recent boom of building in Atlanta gladdens our hearts. The Atlanta Stadium is our stadium, and the glittering skylines are ours as well. The development of Stone Mountain as a state park has interested us, too, and we have taken this new pleasure area over as our own.

A Spot of

Time

There are spots of time which can speak to us forever if only there is a perceptive eye to see them and a camera to record them. On these pages are a few crystallized moments which we choose to preserve.

Dedicated to Mr. Harold Baskin

Anyone who has been associated with Decatur High School will always remember the kindness and cheerfulness displayed by this member of the faculty. We enjoy his thoughtful hello and his infectious grin as we pass him in the halls. His dedication to his work is unsurpassed. He can never be thanked enough for his outstanding effort through the years. He is silent about his work, never asking for recognition, working without being thoroughly appreciated.

We dedicate the 1966 INDECATUR to the person whom we feel has been so dedicated to us. We thank you—Mr. Harold Baskin.

FACULTY

When doors are heavy and do not want to open, it is the dedicated teacher who helps us through,
for it is the task of the teacher to unlock the doors to knowledge for us so that we may learn better how to deal with stubborn doors ourselves.

FACULTY AND CURRICULUM

Broadening the scope and developing the potential of its students is the ultimate purpose and responsibility of any high school. To attain such a goal, the institution must offer to the students not only the best possible learning instruction and facilities it can obtain, but also an atmosphere conducive to learning.

At Decatur these goals are being actively pursued. The students have been provided with excellent new educational facilities. The all-important and irreplaceable atmosphere is maintained by the group of excellent instructors to whom the students are subjected—a faculty of whom Decatur can be truly proud.

Facilities, opportunities, atmosphere: all are essential to the learning process. All join to produce good students who are five-year products of a progressive educational program that hopefully has transformed them from children to young adults.

SENIORS

When doors are opening to us in every direction we turn, they offer a test of how well we have learned our lessons in our years here, for if we have responded to teaching, we know that this is a time for choices, a time to meditate and determine which doors lead to the paths we want to follow the rest of our days.

Seniors

The Class of '66 has had to adjust to the many changes at DHS. Being the first Seniors in the new building is a big change in itself. For a few weeks even the Seniors were lost in the unfamiliar halls and stairways.

This class, like the ones before it, will have special memories of its high school days, such as that horrible realization that the record player was not working during the eighth-grade stunt ... the thrill of their first Homecoming and then, the sorrowful emptiness they felt at their last one ... the freshman flop at Stunt Night ... their pride at the Junior-Senior, knowing that the hard work had paid off ... the excitement of getting measured for Senior rings ... the elation they felt in their Senior year at finally producing a stunt that placed.

As Seniors this year, the Class of '66 swung with full force into every activity taking place. Each football and basketball game, each dance meant more to the Seniors than before, for this was their last year. Each day, each class, each hour brought them closer to the end of their fun-filled high school days.

Now, the Class of '66 is closing the door to its high school career. But each Senior must open a new, a different door—the door to college and the future.

Indecatur

Each year the Indecatur staff selects a group of seniors who, they feel, should be recognized for their contributions to their school and class. Through service, leadership, athletics, and unselfish giving of his time, each person selected has contributed to DHS in his own particular way. The only limitation on selecting students is that they not be Senior Superlatives.

Knowing that many deserving students will not be chosen, each year the staff is tempted to go beyond the conventional number of ten boys and ten girls. This year there are twenty-two Indecatur Selects in all. We must of course stop somewhere, and we offer our apologies to those whom we could not honor.

The tradition of Indecatur Selects has become one of the older traditions at Decatur High School. The announcement of those chosen for this honor is eagerly awaited by the student body at Class Night.

CLASSES

When doors are facing us, they offer a challenge to us to open every one we find, for we must investigate, try, test, and prove so that each day may be better than the last.

President, Jim Campbell

Vice-President, Lynne Barnes

Secretary, Jane Sandow

The Class of '67 continued to display its many fine qualities this year as it enthusiastically participated in all the school activities. The class members contributed wholeheartedly, on Stunt Night, the candy sale and many other projects. This year also marked a change for the Class of '67. Sponsoring the Jr.-Sr. dance and the Picnic were just a few of the activities in which the Juniors participated for the first time. Although a bit apprehensive, the class eagerly looks to the approaching year when they will at last become Seniors.

Hardest Workers

Often the students who work hardest for their class and school do not get the special recognition they deserve. Besides actively participating in school clubs and organizations, they become involved in the various class projects. This year, for the first time, the Indecatur asked the officers from each class to select the two students who they felt contributed most. The individuals they chose have proven themselves worthy of being honored as this year's Hardest Workers.

Jane Burson*

*Freshman Class—Donnie Nations,
Patricia Honea*

*President, Jim Ripley;
Vice-President, Sally Park*

Sophomores

For the sophomores, this past year was one full of mixed emotions. It marked the uncertainty of changing from old and familiar to completely new surroundings. The tremendous joy of placing first in Stunt Night was especially great since sophomores seldom attain this honor. The sophomores felt more responsibility as each became more aware of his importance in the school's curriculum and varied activities. For the first time the sophomores began to grasp the importance of reflecting on the past, realizing the present, and having an exciting outlook toward the future.

Freshmen

The Class of '69 entered the new school with an eagerness, which they displayed throughout the year. Their spirit was apparent in their athletics and in their participation on class and school projects. Their dedication was evident through their excellent Stunt Night production. We are sure the enthusiasm of the Freshmen will continue to grow and make their coming years at DHS even greater.

Freshman faces abound in crowd cheering Decatur on to victory.

ORGANIZATIONS

When doors beckon us to join those whom we would like to be with, they give us an opportunity to learn to understand our friends here and an opportunity to show a true sense of responsibility in opening only a limited number of doors so that we may not profit from the experience but serve as well.

Council

Striving to become the linking bridge between the students and the administration, the Student Council worked for this goal throughout the 1965-1966 school year. The hardworking and conscientious officers, Co-Presidents Kathleen Brewer and Robert Vining, Secretary Laura Lea Richards, and Treasurer Jack Williams, led this major organization.

Utilizing a new method, the Council divided into various committees, each of which presented their findings and opinions to the other representatives for consideration. Included were committees for dances, polls, grounds improvement, evaluations, and senior privileges.

The Student Council realized the growing need for health supplies among the South Vietnamese and sponsored the "Soap for Hope" campaign. Students contributed hundreds of pounds of soap for this worthwhile project. DHS took advantage of the chance to express her beliefs in the United States' commitment in Vietnam by participating in the Affirmation: Vietnam program. Student Council organized groups for canvassing the entire Decatur area in an opinion poll for Affirmation: Vietnam and obtained four buses to transport interested people to the giant rally held at Atlanta Stadium on February 12.

During the year the Council sponsored many gala dances—the Snowball at Christmastime, the Twirp Twirl in February, the Black Cat Ball in spring, and several dances after football and basketball games. This service organization continued traditional projects such as supporting CARE and collecting clothing and canned goods for needy families.

The Student Council was instrumental in organizing the 1966 Homecoming parade.

SENIOR REPRESENTATIVES: Don Ellis, Jerry Overton, Rankin Thomas, Harry Lyons, Tom Jones, Gerry Grogan, Sue Renfroe.

Beginning at Emory University, Affirmation: Vietnam was formed so that the entire world could see how the majority of Americans felt about the commitment of the United States in Vietnam. The Student Council invited Remar Sutton, the originator of the program, to come to speak to the student body. The school responded to Mr. Sutton's stirring speech by canvassing the entire Decatur area in an opinion poll for Affirmation: Vietnam, and a total count of a few thousand signatures brought Decatur High recognition as being the leader in Atlanta area high schools for work on the program. Four enthusiastic busloads of students represented the school at the climactic rally at the Atlanta Stadium on February 12, 1966.

The entire student body participated in the Thanksgiving project of collecting canned goods for needy families.

The Snowball was fun for everyone.

SUE RENFROE—Telephoning, making arrangements, typing, and taking part in staff discussions, Sue has found time to give freely to the Indecatur of her many leadership qualities.

NITA NORMAN—Nita's self-effacing manner belies the great amount of work she has done as Business Manager. She has worked cheerfully and with excellent results.

JIMMY MILLER—Always putting Indecatur first, Jimmy's genial personality has helped to unify the spirit of the staff. His imagination and good taste as well as hundreds of hours of unselfish work are evident throughout the book. In a position of great responsibility he has proven himself worthy.

1966 Indecatur

A new year, a new building, a new administration, and (for eight of us) a new job—these have made this year different in many ways from other years we have known. It was a year of missing homeroom day after day ... trying to keep up with a million pictures ... eating Junior class candy during INDECATUR period ... doing math homework ... trying hard not to spill the beans about precious, exciting secrets ... trying desperately to cooperate with the clubs and their sponsors, then counting to ten before blowing up ... trying to think up creative, imaginative write-ups with descriptive, colorful words for clubs which really aren't too colorful ... begging friends to buy Highwaymen Concert tickets, in vain ... evading millions of questions from inquisitive friends without really telling lies ... working for hours trying to perfect a layout, only to have it almost completely redone by Mr. Cook or Mrs. Bynum.

To most eyes the curtained door of the INDECATUR Room seems always closed; however, to the fifteen members of the INDECATUR Staff it is an open door. It is an entrance to a whole new world of willing creativity. This door is open in another sense, too. It is a passageway out as well as in. The material of the INDECATUR is the Students of DHS. The staff members come in this door to go out to the students and gather their material. But after the material is gathered, the fifteen frenzied students work behind this door to unlock the doors in their minds that lead to the exact word, the exact picture to portray the school and the friends they have found here.

Ultimately one opens the door to the secrets of the INDECATUR Room by opening the covers of this book.

JIM LEMLY—As Associate Editor Jim has worked faithfully to achieve excellence in the 1966 Indecatur. This task presented many outlets for his sensitive perception and willingness to serve.

MRS. BYNUM—Her dedication, interest, and refined good nature have enchanted staff members. Rarely does one meet so fascinating a person.

MR. COOK—Genuinely concerned with staff members, Mr. Cook inspires the staff with his boundless good humor and tireless efforts to create a beautiful INDECATUR.

Staff

KAY WHITENTON—Always finding the silver lining, Kay's conscientious concern for her work and the well-being of Indecatur has been a source of comfort to the staff ... LYNNE BARNES—Creative and talented, Lynne has made an inventive approach to Indecatur problems while amusing the staff with her "bouncing" enthusiasm ... JOANNE ST. CLAIR—A thorough worker who respects deadlines, JoAnne has a strong sense of student opinion.

STACEY TOWNSEND—Working with a true athlete's love of sports, Stacey has brought a quiet efficiency to a difficult job ... NEAL ADAMS—Whatever there is to do, Neal finds time for Indecatur. His eagerness to help has been widely utilized and greatly appreciated ... JIM HATCH—Devoted to his work as photographer, Jim has used his extensive imagination for Indecatur. His unconventional personality has amused staff members day after day ... PAULETTE ERICKSON—Working hard to give a good report on Senior activities, Paulette has enlivened staff meetings with her quips and outspoken manner ... HUBERT GREENWAY—Hubert's good humor and an outstanding ability to "think Indecatur" have contributed substantially to the more pleasant aspects of the '66 Indecatur.

NEALE ELLIOTT—A cheerful grouch, Neale's deceptive manner has endeared him to staff members. Works hard. Hates socks ... BEVERLY BAILEY—Finding a lot to do, Beverly has worked quietly on her section as well as on various miscellaneous tasks ... MARY JANE ANTONOPLOS—Frequently displaying flashes of wit, Mary Jane has worked loyally for Indecatur in many areas.

Scribbler Staff

The Scribbler underwent many changes this year. The staff welcomed as its new sponsors Mrs. Weldon Jelks, Mrs. Bettye Halstead, and Mr. Douglas Joyner. Mrs. Jelks was the Head advisor and dealt with most of the problems that beset the paper. Mr. Joyner managed the business affairs of the newspaper; and Mrs. Halstead, who had previously worked on a college paper in Alabama, gave the staff tips on the mechanics of a newspaper. This able team of advisors helped turn a "gossip paper" of previous years into a "news" paper.

Another change was the added responsibility placed upon the staff: their job did not end with planning and writing the articles; they also had to learn to use some brand-new equipment. Dennis Linn, Kay Baker, and Jan Peters undertook the gargantuan task of typing articles in neat columns on the two new IBM typewriters; Terry Daly and Randy Carrington learned to operate and take care of the new A.B. Dick Offset Press; and nearly everyone on the staff made use of the Strip-Printer machine, which makes headlines.

The Scribbler came out every month, and also produced some noteworthy extras. The Spirit Extra before the Avondale game won the Spirit Ribbon from the Pop Club, and the "Affirmation: Viet Nam" Extra was acclaimed by the founders of the Viet Nam movement as the "best high school extra."

Some of the remodeling done by the Scribbler was the improvement of news and sports coverage, the revival of a "Letters to the Editor" column, and a revision of the "Senior Who's Who" column into an interview session. During the spring the Scribbler staff hosted some University of Georgia personnel in a fascinating "Journalism Workshop."

This year was indeed a busy one for the Scribbler Staff, and their efforts were rewarded by the publication of a much improved paper.

National Honor Society

Mrs. Lucyle Folger,
Sponsor

One of the highest honors a student may receive at Decatur High School is to achieve membership in National Honor Society. A student must be of high academic standing and high moral character, and he must demonstrate leadership ability and willingness to serve before he will even be considered eligible. The national headquarters limits membership to five per cent of the junior class at the spring tapping and up to fifteen per cent of the senior class at the fall tapping.

As in the past years NHS sponsored College Day which proved quite beneficial to the juniors and seniors who attended.

Students ask questions on College Day and listen intently for answers concerning their hopes for the future.

Members of Senior Beta Club make plans to attend the state convention in Atlanta.

Inducting ten new members, the Senior Beta Club raised its total membership to over seventy members. As the main project of this large club, members tentatively planned to speak to the Junior High School at an assembly, stressing to the young students the importance of learning and making good grades now so that they will be prepared for the future. The club sent a large delegation to the state convention held at the Dinkler Plaza Hotel on March 10 and 11. Dr. Carlos Garcia-Carreras sponsored this organization.

Junior Beta Club

At their meetings Junior Beta Club members, with the help of their sponsor, Mrs. Elva Mills, formulated plans for projects and activities for the year. Projects which were carried out included a spirit project displayed at a Decatur-Avondale basketball game and a decorated car in the homecoming parade. Members also made plans to set up a committee of members who would tutor other students in subjects in which help was needed, and to attend the Beta Club convention held in Atlanta during March.

Sophomore Beta Club

Under the sponsorship of Miss Joyce Reedy, the Sophomore Beta Club led a drive to collect old clothes which were donated to the Decatur Clothing Room. These clothes were then distributed to needy families in the Decatur area. Mixing fun with work, the Beta Club celebrated the spring season with a party as its other main activity.

Freshmen were inspired to work hard to make good grades by the fact that they might be eligible to join the Freshman Beta Club. Although this club was unable to form until the first semester's grades were posted, the new members enthusiastically elected officers at their first meeting. These officers, with Mrs. Jean Bynum, the club sponsor, planned as a spring project to collect clothing to be donated to the DeKalb Welfare Department.

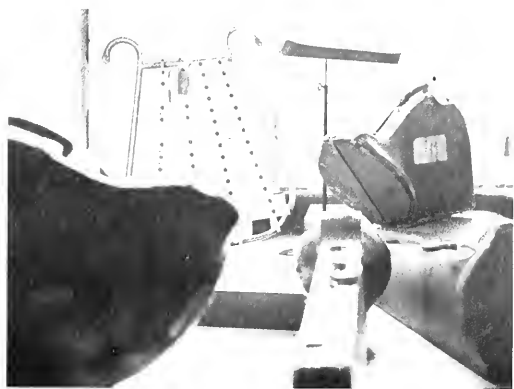

Allied Medical Careers Club

Lynn Coleman, V. Pres.; Mrs. Thomas; Susan Fincher, Treas.; Gail Thomas, Pres.; Laura Harrison, Sec.; Mrs. Routh Neill, Sponsor.

The Allied Medical Careers Club was formed in order to allow those students interested in a medical career to broaden their knowledge in this field. At meetings the members of the club planned several projects and field trips, one of which was a trip to the Communicable Disease Center. This club was sponsored by Mrs. Routh Neill.

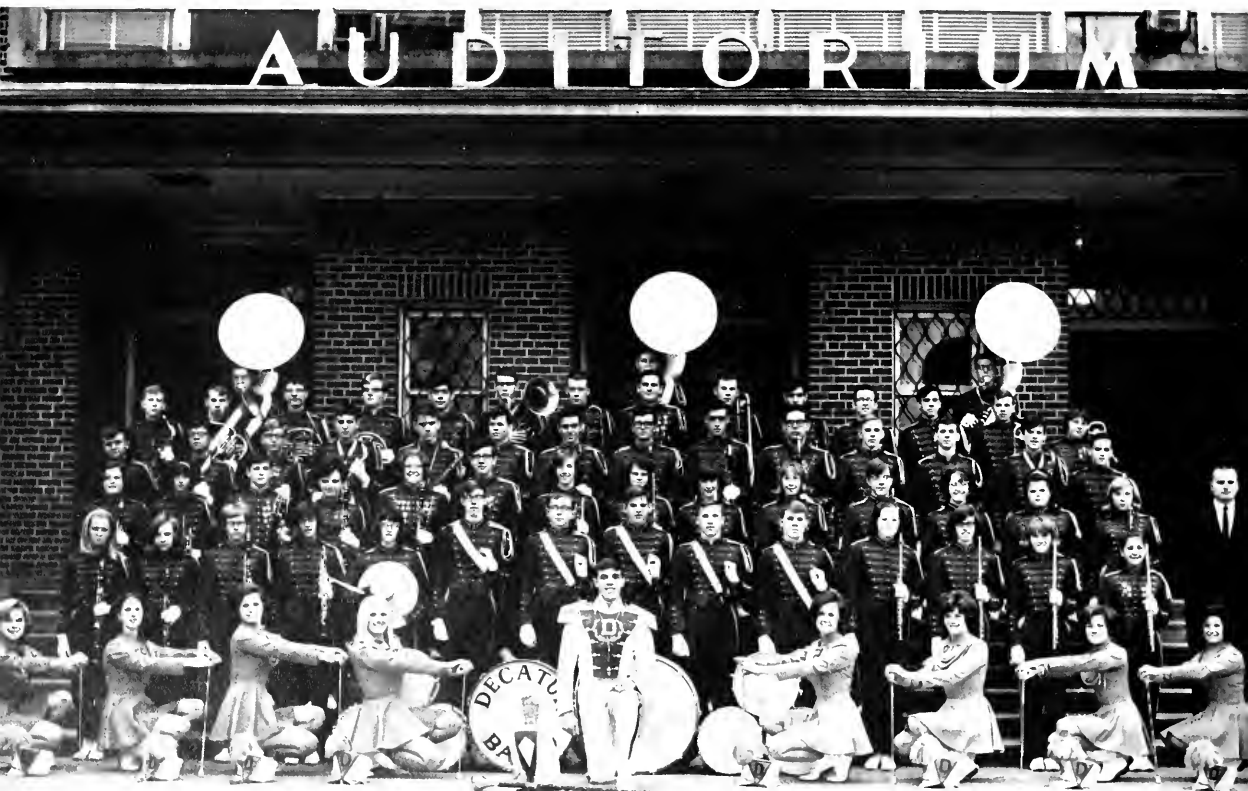

Decatur High School Band

This year the Decatur High School Band proved to be one of the most outstanding bands Decatur has ever known. As usual the band boosted spirit at the football games and pep rallies, and it also marched in the Veteran's Day Parade, the Homecoming Parade, and the parade for the first football game of the year. The band entertained the community with several excellent concerts. Among these were the Spring Concert, the Christmas Concert and the opening of the First National Bank of Decatur, all of which were well-attended. The most important event of the year was the Music Festival, which was held in April. The band began preparation for this event in January in order to bring out their fine quality in music. Each member was conscientious in contributing all of their talents, but much of the success of the band was a result of the fine leadership of Mr. Mills, band director, and Herschel Beazley, drum major.

Led by their captain, Scottie Atkins, the Majorettes added beauty and entertainment to the football and basketball games and helped to boost the general spirit of the crowd. They marched with the band in the Homecoming Parade, the Veteran's Day Parade, and the parade at the beginning of the football season. Some of their other activities included participation in the talent show, the Fourth District Twirling Festival, and the twirling clinic in Athens. The majorettes attended twirling camps during the summer and, in addition, put in many hours of practice after school. This extensive preparation was reflected in their fine performances.

The smoothness and precision of the Varsity Drill Team, which are such a credit to DHS, are the result of months of daily practice. From intense summer heat to bitter winter cold, rain or shine the drill team rehearses routine after routine until each is perfected. The members are disciplined by numerous threats of having to polish boots, and screams of reprimands from Mrs. Brown and captains Vicki and Nancy. Performing at all football games, they present a sparkling spectacle which adds substantially to the aura of glory which is traditionally Decatur's.

Sponsor, Mrs. Becky Brown

B-Drill Team

This year like others has been a rewarding year for the B-Drill Team. They learned many drills and routines which will prepare them for varsity presentation. Led by able captains Jan Dillard and Betsy Painter, the B-Drillers added fine entertainment for B-Team football and basketball games.

Interact Club

The Interact Club is in its second year of existence at Decatur High School. This year the club held the distinction of preparing two home-coming floats, although only one was required. Interact Club members also contributed much spirit to the basketball season by presenting a blue and gold basketball to the basketball team.

Junior

Junior Civitan proved to be a very active club throughout the year. Members kept the Civitan booth at the Southeastern Fair, ushered at the Georgia Tech benefit football game for mentally retarded children in the fall, and attended Civitan District meetings. The Junior Civitan homecoming car was hailed as the most beautiful in the parade. It was decorated with pink Kleenex carnations, and the hood boasted a herald holding a banner. This group collected for the March of Dimes and the Empty Stocking Fund. Fruitcake sales at Christmastime united the club in a common fund-raising effort and produced the central idea for one of the best spirit projects for the Student Council's contest.

Key Club

Although not as active as in past years, the Key Club participated in several worthwhile projects this year. Key men took part in the Affirmation: Vietnam opinion poll and were well represented in the collection of funds for the Easter Seal drive. This club displayed its school spirit by having a car in the homecoming parade.

Science Club

Students at Decatur who wished to further their study of science and to promote an interest in this subject among others were given a chance to join the Science Club. Under the leadership of their officers and their sponsor, Mr. Tom Morgan, the club members planned several exciting field trips, among these an overnight trip to Oak Ridge, Tennessee. Assuming a great responsibility, this group undertook the presentation of the Decatur High School Science Fair as its major project of the year.

F.C.A.

Under the leadership of Collier Beall, President; Bill Brown, Vice President; and Tommy Couch, Secretary-Treasurer; the Fellowship of Christian Athletes provided many inspiring programs to further the ideals of good sportsmanship. In addition to their regular meetings, the members also attended a rally at the Grace Methodist Church and sold Easter lilies for the Nation-wide Easter Lily Drive.

Library Club

The Library Club, sponsored by Mrs. Reba Jones and Mrs. Paul Turner, is composed of members of the library staff, whose chief purposes are: to improve the school library and its services; to arouse enthusiasm for books and reading; and to encourage interest in the librarian profession. The Officers of the Library Club this year were Peggy Lee, President, Gail Simonton, Vice President, Virginia Lance, Secretary, and Betsy Wilson, Treasurer.

F.H.A.

"Building blocks for the future" was the theme for the Future Homemakers of America this year. This active club, consisting of interested students of home economics, was sponsored by Mrs. Jeanine Dunaway. In the November meeting Paula Taggart gave an interesting and enlightening report on her trip to the national convention in Pennsylvania. A lecture on "Christmas Around the World" was given by a representative from the Georgia Power Company in December. To make money to purchase equipment for the new home-making department, the club members sold vanilla flavoring, and they gave a Tupperware party in order to supply the department with Tupperware. In March several members attended a district F.H.A. meeting held at Wheeler High School in Cobb County. During national F.H.A. week, April, 15-17, members carried out projects to serve the school and their families. Members of the Decatur chapter also participated in the state F.H.A. convention. The Future Homemakers were energetically led by Pat Blockly, President; Barbara McGinnis, Vice President; Anne McCorkle, Secretary; and Diane Zaworski, Treasurer.

Campus Life

The Campus Life Club, formerly known as Youth for Christ, under the sponsorship of Mrs. Evelyn MacDonald and the Campus Life Club Director, Bruce Washburn, held weekly meetings in which, through the presentation of clever, inspiring ideas, students were challenged to take their faith seriously on campus as well as at home or at church. In order to reach a wider range of people, the club sponsored an assembly with guest speaker, John Brown, who was voted Young Man in Religion in Atlanta and is the director of the Campus Crusade for Christ on the Tech Campus. In order to raise funds and promote school spirit, the members sold Decatur decals. A quiz team, which competed with teams from other Campus Life clubs, was organized. Studying Romans and using the Olympic Quiz rules, the team, though inexperienced, did quite well. The club sponsored a Junior High School Rush Party in April to acquaint the students with Campus Life.

In addition to its local activities, the club was active in other metro-Atlanta activities for all the Campus Life clubs sponsored by the local Youth for Christ Rally and Area Council. Youth for Christ rallies, made up of all all Campus Life clubs in Atlanta, were held at the Atlanta Art Association on the first and third Saturday nights of each month, and they attracted many club members. One of these was held at the Decatur High School auditorium. Many members were present at the Campus Caper, a giant rally for all clubs. The Christmas retreat was held December 27-29 at Camp Glisson and the formal Teen Reception was held on April 22. Both of these events were well-attended. Several members also participated in the teen talent contest held in March, the winners of which attended the Southeastern States Conference held in Toccoa.

Pep Club

The Pep Club, an essential organization at Decatur High, continued this year to act as the backbone of Bulldog spirit. Each member encouraged spirit through his homeroom. The club sponsored the traditional pep rallies before football and important basketball games. Into these rallies, they introduced several clever innovations, among them a cheer led by the coaches, and cheering competition between the boys and the girls. The spirited barking of the mascot, Duke, heightened the enthusiasm of the spectators at the football games. The Pep Club, whether working on the scene or behind the scene, contributed greatly to the success of our athletic program.

The Canteen Council carried out the job of coordinating the activities of the Decatur Recreation Center with those of the school. This active organization sponsored several dances after the basketball games, but the highlight of the year was the big spring dance. Using funds provided by these activities, the council bought a wide assortment of records for the jukebox. This year a new and commendable project was undertaken: a percentage of the profits of the Recreation Center were set aside for a scholarship to be awarded to a student planning to study in the field of recreation. The Canteen Council was sponsored by Mr. Searce, Director of the Recreation Department.

At its first meeting the Spanish Club celebrated Dr. Carreras' birthday with a party, complete with a piñata and refreshments for everyone. As a part of the festivities, the club presented the honored guest with a new filing cabinet. During the next meeting, members sampled the Latin American treat, banana chips. Miss Melissa Cilley, a former teacher at Agnes Scott, who has lived in Spain, presented an interesting talk on Spanish customs and holidays at one meeting. Among other activities highlighting the year was a Spanish banquet in the spring. As a final project an exciting three-day sightseeing trip to St. Augustine, Florida, was made in April. The very large Spanish Club was guided by Dr. Carlos García-Carreras and Mrs. Eva Fernández.

French Club

Enthusiastic students who joined the French Club enjoyed a fun-filled year of activities which included a French party at Christmastime and an elaborate spring banquet. These are annual events at which French foods are served and French customs are observed. The French Club attended a performance of the play St. Joan at the Community Playhouse in the fall and sponsored a colorful costume ball in the spring. By sponsoring dances after Decatur basketball games, the club was able to finance its many activities and to make a substantial contribution to the Indecatur staff. Regular French Club meetings were highlighted by guest speakers, one of whom was Miss Anne Morse, an Agnes Scott student who has lived in France. The French Club, one of the largest in the school, was sponsored by Mr. Dennis Green.

Latin Club

Making Latin live today, the Latin Club began the year with an auction at which new members were initiated by being sold as slaves to the old members. The club celebrated the Christmas season with a Saturnalia party, the only event at which slaves were served by their masters. Competing in vocabulary, mythology, and declamation contests, members represented Decatur well at the state convention at Rock Eagle. As an end to an active year, the Latin Club members planned a spring banquet in the traditional Roman style. The club was sponsored by Mrs. Marian Brown and Miss Louise Cook.

Students who are interested in teaching as a career gained a better knowledge of teaching methods and requirements by working closely with the teachers. Red Cross

The Red Cross members, working closely with the Atlanta Red Cross Council, conducted a very successful drive for membership in the National Red Cross. They also sponsored an assembly at which Mason Cargill, a student at Russell High, showed slides of a trip which he took to Columbia, South America, as Red Cross Representative for the DeKalb Area. The Red Cross was sponsored by Mrs. J. S. Harvard.

Hard work at monthly meetings of the Art Club brought forth a new feeling of art appreciation at Decatur High School. Members sanded frames for prints of famous paintings which were hung around the building, and they were responsible for the beautiful Christmas bulletin boards. A trip to the Art Department of the University of Georgia afforded students an opportunity to examine the possibilities of studying art in college. Mr. Gary Selby, the sponsor, was instrumental in bringing several art shows to the school.

Each day of the 1965-1966 school year, the Choral Club met during third period in the Choral Room. This group not only blessed the Christmas and Easter assemblies with melodious song but also sang for programs outside the school circle. Led by the capable direction of Mr. Clifton Hughes, they presented a medley of Christmas carols to the Decatur Presbyterian Church and to the holiday shoppers at Lenox Square. A spring carwash brought needed funds into the Choral Club's treasury.

The Future Business Leaders of America, sponsored by Mrs. Donna Foster, is composed of students pursuing a career in the business world. These girls served the school and community, offering their services in clerical work. As a money-making project the F. B. L. A. sold hosiery. This year several of the members attended the Fashion Career Seminar at the Atlanta Cabaña, presented by the Apt Academy and the Business and Professional Women's Club.

Y-Teens

Working in Cooperation with the Atlanta YWCA, the Decatur Y-Teens experienced a successful year under the guidance of Miss Gail Gilson. Helping others through service projects drew the members closer together and helped them to win new friends. One of the main events of the year was the fashion show at Rich's in which Mary McFall modeled. To boost the spirit during the basketball season the Y-Teens made placards for the lunchroom tables. The climax of the year was the banquet held at the YWCA on May 11.

Quill and Scroll

Quill and Scroll, making its first appearance on the Decatur campus this year, is a national honorary society. Membership is restricted to those students who have been outstanding in the field of journalism or business in their work on the school annual or newspaper. Members, who must be in the upper third of their class academically, are recommended by the sponsors of each school publication and are approved by a faculty committee consisting of all publication sponsors and two members of the English department.

Radio Club

Sponsored by Mr. John Varner, the Radio Club held its meetings in the North Building where members operated radios and discussed the world of the ham radio operator.

Because of the prolonged absence of Mrs. Lucyle Folger, its sponsor, the Tourist Club was unable to make its annual trip. However, the members continued to hold monthly meetings at which they excitedly began making plans for next year's trip to Nassau. This week-long trip is scheduled for spring holidays of 1967.

... promotion of school spirit ...

... or the broadening of each student's particular interest.

... fulfillment of an obligation to DHS ...

When doors promise the reward of fame, favor and glory, it is easy to enter, for these things are desirable to anyone, but behind these doors is the challenge of tremendous sacrifice and ages of work which only a few who enter can face up to.

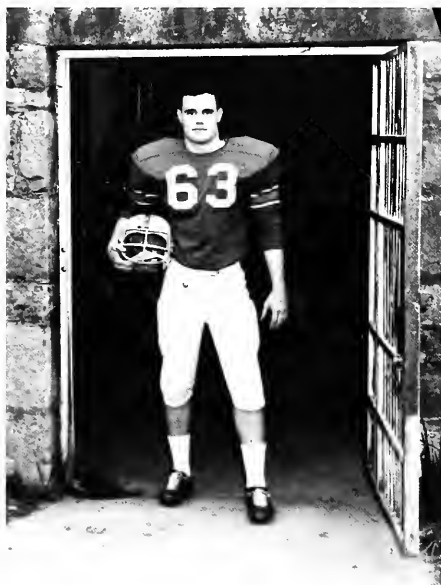

HEAD COACH: Franklin Brooks

Coach Brooks is one of the finest men, as well as the most competent football coaches, I have known. He commands the respect of all who know him and, in turn, has a high regard and a genuine interest in those who have earned his respect. His dedication toward not only winning football games, but also building men out of boys, on and off the football field, make him a part of our school of which we can be justly proud.

Tom Jones

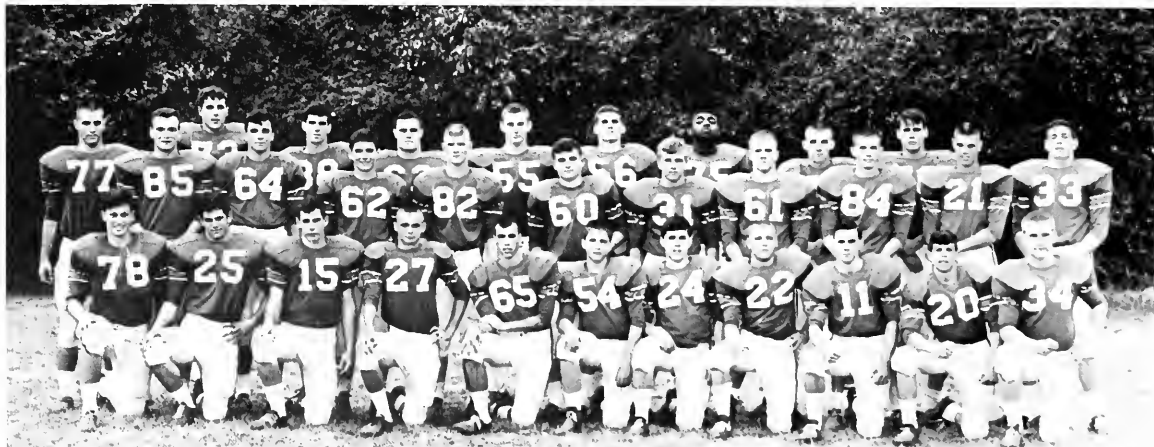

TOM JONES: Captain

Tom received many honors for his excellent play throughout the season. He was chosen Lineman-of-the-week twice by the Atlanta Touchdown Club, he also received the honor of being on the All-Greater-Atlanta team, the WSB All-Star team and All-State in Region AAA.

Coach Abe Palmer

The Varsity Football Team, sparked by unquestionable spirit and desire, has accomplished a great deal this year. Led by many outstanding players, our team has given us a year to be proud of. The Bulldogs ended the season with five wins and five losses. Roosevelt, Jonesboro, Gainesville, Forest Park, and South Cobb were defeated by our Bulldogs during the year. The team played a very hard schedule, and the defeats came at the hands of some of the best teams in the state.

Our seniors, Tom Jones, Richard Adams, Collier Beall, Alan Cole, Bruce Fowler, Larry Hood and Johnny Stanford, were all essential players, contributing to the outstanding play of our team. Standouts in the other classes were, Jack Williams, Tommy Couch, Rusty Miller, Andy Almond, Bill Brown, Larry Rogers, Doug Cole, Tommy McHenry, Tony Powell and Dennis Chadwick. With the great potential promised in these boys, next season will surely be as good or better than this year.

At the close of the season Tom Jones was chosen on the All-Greater-Atlanta football team. Jack Williams, Tommy Couch and Rusty Miller won Honorable Mention status.

Seniors

The seniors on our team proved themselves to be invaluable throughout the season. Coach Brook's respect for these players is shown in the following remarks.

TOM JONES—Tom exhibited great leadership qualities this year, and should be rated as one of Decatur's greatest all-time athletes.

RICHARD ADAMS—Richard was Decatur's most improved player this year, contributing greatly to Decatur's victories. He led the team in tackles and assists and also was one of our best blockers. Probably our most consistent player.

LARRY HOOD—Larry was one of our best hustlers this year and for his size, was one of the finest players in the state. He will be missed next year. Terrific competitor.

JOHNNY STANFORD—Johnny was one of our most improved players this year, averaging almost 43 minutes a game. He is a good downfield blocker and a fine defensive end.

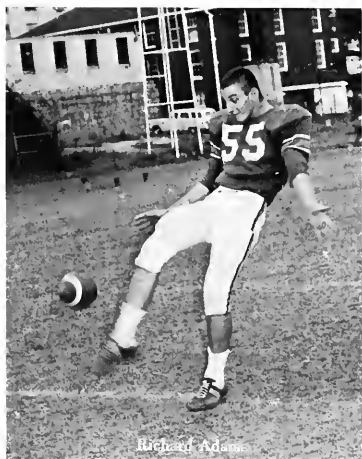

COLLIER BEALL—Collier led the Decatur secondary this year while backing up Jack Williams at quarterback. He was a tremendous steadying influence on our young secondary this year with his fine leadership ability. Collier is the president of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes.

BRUCE FOWLER—Bruce did our kicking this year and was one of the finest in our area. He suffered a broken collar bone, which handicapped him for most of the late season.

ALAN COLE—Big Alan led our attack with fine blocking. He made many clutch plays which led to victories. He is a fine college prospect with great speed and strength.

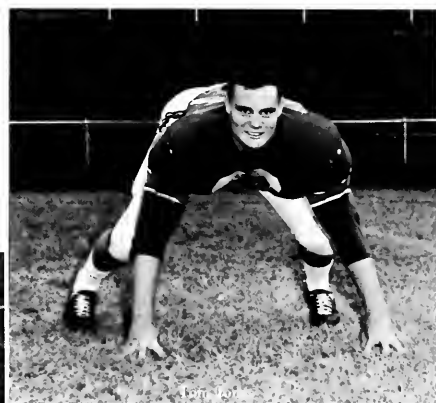

Hood stretches for a pass.

Varsity Basketball

The first year of coaching at Decatur for Roger Kaiser proved to be very successful. Seven seniors, led by fantastic Herb White, seven juniors, and three sophomores, compiled a 20 and 4 record. Six other seniors, Rankin Thomas, Alan Cole, Don Ellis, Steve Powell, John Hightower, and Richard Tucker were all vital members of the team, and contributed to the versatile attack of this year's Bulldogs.

Before Christmas the team won 9 and lost 2, scoring decisive wins over Sylvan, 82 to 36; Cross Keys, 71 to 42; and Marist, 77 to 51. In the DeKalb Invitational Tournament during the Christmas holidays, the team placed second, sparked by Herb White's single game high of 38 points. Finishing the season with a stretch drive of 11 wins and 2 losses, Decatur included a striking win over Avondale, 70 to 52, and a 76 to 51 win over region champions Southwest DeKalb.

The 4-AAA Tournament brought Decatur a fantastic 74 to 19 win over R.E. Lee, but in a game decided only in the last minutes, arch rival Avondale eked out a 74 to 67 victory. During this last Avondale game, Herb White scored 34 points in a superb performance, his last game as a high school senior.

The excellent back-up support of juniors Jack Williams, Davis Walker, Neale Elliot, Tommy Ball, Johnny Calhoun, Ham Ansley, and Richard Wilson, and sophomores Dennis Chadwick, Bobby Mobley, and Mitt Parker provided talented depth this year and should provide the foundation for a fine team next year.

The high level of team spirit maintained in spite of setbacks is a tribute both to each member of our team and to Coach Kaiser.

Seniors

In his first year of coaching at Decatur, Coach Roger Kaiser earned the respect of all of the people at DHS. In the following paragraphs, he shows his admiration for the senior players on the basketball team.

HERB WHITE—Herb is, without a doubt, the finest basketball player in the state of Georgia, and one of the best high school ball players I've seen in any state. He does so many things exceptionally well—pass, rebound, play defense, and score—that his future is unlimited. How many high school ball players average 18 to 20 points a game, and still feed his teammates many times during a game? Only one—Decatur's Herb White! It will be many years before Decatur fans will forget his 38 point performance against rival Druid Hills or his 34 points against Avondale. It has been a pleasure to coach him.

RANKIN THOMAS—Rankin has as much heart and desire as any ball player I know. We referred to him as the boy with a big heart and a sore leg. First the left ankle in a cast, then the right one, but he never stopped giving 100%. His defense ranked among the top in the league and, before missing eight games because of injury, he had averaged 14 points a game. Decatur will remember Rankin as their fine, dependable co-captain of their 1965-66 Bulldogs.

ALAN COLE—"Big Al" was one ball player that we had few plans for at the beginning of the year. Alan was much more well-known for his humor and laughter than his rebounding and scoring. Mid-way through the year he had improved so much that he had earned a starting position which he never lost. Alan's play merited much praise and his strength on the boards and scoring proved to be a big asset for the Bulldogs.

DON ELLIS—Don is a player who improved greatly as the season progressed and earned himself a starting position plus much respect from his opponents. Don's rebounding and timely baskets in many games turned the tide for the Bulldogs. His spirit often spurred his teammates on to better play.

STEVE POWELL—Steve developed into a fine shooter this year. Many opponents will readily agree to this. A hustling guard, Steve proved to be a valuable asset on defense with his tireless harassment of opposing players. His accuracy from the free throw lane was valuable in many close ball games.

JOHN HIGHTOWER—John showed much improvement this year and started several games. He had an exceptionally fine attitude and worked hard all the year for the betterment of the Bulldogs. Several had more ability than John, but few tried harder.

RICHARD TUCKER—One of the best shots on the team, Richard's outside shooting merited his starting several games for the Bulldogs. Although small for a forward, he played several fine games during the season. Richard's finest nights were a 25 point effort against Marist and 17 points in one half against Cross Keys.

The Girl's Varsity Basketball team under the excellent coaching of Mr. Bill Woodruff, felt both the sting of defeat and the elation of victory this year. The six seniors on the team, Co-captains Nita Norman and Elaine Patterson, Kay Ferguson, Becky Couch, Marjorie Orr, and Stacey Townsend were the leaders of the team. Ending the season with a record of 8 wins and 13 losses, the girls improved steadily, tallying double wins over Briarcliff, runnerup in the region tournament, 44 to 42 and 37 to 34; a 42 to 40 win over Southwest DeKalb and a fantastic 48 to 46 win over R. E. Lee, who hasn't been beaten by a Decatur girl's team in over eight years of play, and was State Champion.

Freshman forward Diane James, scored 473 points in 22 games this season, setting a new school record. Averaging about 22 points a game, Diane was a very important part of the offensive unit. Senior Elaine Patterson, missed much of the season because of a wrist injury, but played excellent ball. Stacey Townsend was an integral part of the offense, contributing her good playmaking and ball-handling. Becky Couch, Kay Ferguson, and Nita Norman were the three guards who made up one of the toughest defenses in the region.

Liz Fox, a junior, and Jan Dillard, a sophomore, helped to fill the gap left by Elaine Patterson's injury. Both came through with fine play in many games. Junior Marty Woolf, and Carol Ward, were very strong substitutes at guard, and could be counted on to get the job done when they were needed.

The years ahead look very promising for girl's basketball at DHS. The teams have steadily improved in the last four years and should continue to improve in years to come.

Varsity Cheerleaders

Captain Linda Cole and Co-Captain Carolyn Cotton

With the support of the student body, the Varsity Cheerleaders made spirit a byword at Decatur this year. New cheers and the cheerleaders' boundless enthusiasm kept student interest in sports at a peak. Seldom did these girls leave the school at 3:05. Posters had to be made and goal-posts and gyms had to be decorated. The day of a game brought more activity: the pep rally, hanging bust-through signs, dashing home to change, the cheerleaders dinner at 6:30, and then the game.

Even during the summer, the cheerleaders labored, practicing two hours a day, sometimes twice a day. When they were not practicing, they were making footballs for distribution, drawing posters for the halls, or selling doughnuts to raise money for new uniforms. Their dedication to the promotion of spirit at Decatur helped the cheerleaders make of a demanding task, a very enjoyable one.

Months of practice pay off in a split second of precision.

Since most of the team is comprised of underclassmen, prospects for next year are good.

Decatur High's tennis teams, coached by Mr. John Varner, continued to hold the excellent standard set by teams of previous years. Both teams chalked up many wins and showed other schools that Decatur could continue its domination of that high school sport in the region even though many of the top players left last year.

The boys' singles teams were led by Davis Walker and Ham Ansley. Boys' doubles were led by the combinations of Richard Tucker—Ned Richards and Richard Patterson—Kenny Healey. Other teams in the region thought our boys were one of the toughest, if not the toughest team to play.

Track

This season the Decatur Track Team, under the top-notch coaching of Phil Knight, represented our school well. In each of their meets, including the Westminster Relays, Decatur gave a fine showing. Sacrificing most of their free time, these hardworking boys put in long hours of practice every day. Through guts and desire the team improved greatly by the end of the season. Since there were only two seniors on the team, we are assured, next year, of another good team.

COACH BOB RINEHARDT

Under the expert coaching of Mr. Bob Reinhart and Mr. Roger Kaiser, the Varsity Baseball Team had a very successful season. The team, strong with lettermen, totaled many victories against very difficult opponents. The team has a talented pitching staff headed by Gerry Grogan and Doug Simmons. Richard Adams sparked the team's hitting attack along with Steve Powell, Steve Roberts, and Andy Almond. With Johnny Calhoun at first base, Billy Dukes at shortstop, Larry Anderson in left field, and Larry Rogers in right field, the defense presented a tough outlook to any batter at the plate. Seniors, Larry Lanford, Mac Sears, and Everett Higginbotham, contributed to the successful season this year.

Student Council Elections

Filled with endless idea-forming, poster-sketching, speech-preparing, and pep-talking, the week of March 25 through April 1 was Student Council Campaign Week 1966. All weekend long the constant babble of those working for their favorite candidates and never-stopping strands of music drifted from the three homes serving as campaign headquarters. Each of the three parties—The Lights, The Stones, and The Volts—worked as units striving to present its candidates as the best ones for the job.

Posters plastered through the halls of Decatur acquainted every passerby with the students running for office. The day of the speeches brought anxiety and tension, for this was the final attempt of each candidate to persuade the voters that he should be elected.

The announcement of the new officers for 1966-1967 meant the end of a hard and grueling week of campaigning and the beginning of a year of hard work for those elected.

Sophomores Take First Place

As the puppeteer skillfully manipulated their strings, the beautifully dressed and painted Merry Marionettes went through a delightful musical routine in their puppet gallery. With the help of their strings, everyone but silly Pupitre did his part exactly as planned. Suddenly Sloopy, one of the best puppets, met with an unexpected disaster—his strings broke. As he lay, limply slumped over and unsupported, his friends tried to discover a remedy for this unfortunate situation.

Upon the suggestion from one of the puppets that Sloopy might be able to stand without the aid of his strings, he shakily rose to his feet. As the others clamored to be free too, Sloopy began cutting their strings. Even silly Pupitre's strings were cut, and the Marionettes were once again happy, now doing independently what their strings had taught them to do so well.

Seniors Capture Second

The last stunt of the Class of '66 was different from any that had ever been presented before. Its unstated moral, absence of rhyme, three separate scenes, and songs with the heavy rock and roll beat, distinguished it from any other.

It began with the little bugs busily raking leaves in the forest and responding obediently to the commands of Wally, their superintendent. As he pretentiously stalked around, ordering and re-ordering, the tiny crawling creatures labored at their task. Although a cute little snail, Smedley, called their attention to a vine that had begun to grow in their midst, all were too preoccupied with their insignificant squabbles to care about a silly vine. Then, too, a new revolutionary faction had arisen, and formed to protest against working and raking leaves. These protestors disbanded from the rakers and went to a discotheque to sing their songs of protest.

Soon the obscure and ignored vine engulfed the small creatures of the forest. The bugs had been so preoccupied with their trivial little quarrels which were so shamefully apathetic, they had totally ignored the important and immediate problems.

The stunt ended with a quotation from T. S. Eliot's "The Hollow Men": "... This is the way the world ends. This is the way the world ends. This is the way the world ends. Not with a bang but a whimper," and left everyone in the audience to his own interpretation.

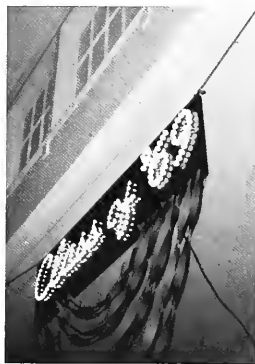

Junior Stunt

From out of the darkness a little pack of film rolled and asked the audience to please stand up. An astounding flash appeared at the back of the stage, as a shiny polaroid camera entered. The crowd saw a beautifully sharp picture of themselves developed before their eyes. However, to everyone's dismay, all of the proud Super Camera's attempts at color photography failed, for he was colorblind! Having thought that he was infallible, and unable to accept his not being perfect, Super Camera fell into a depressed state of mind. The other cameras, flashbulbs, film, developing fluids, and pictures joined together in an effort to rid him of his negative attitude and remind him how exceptionally good his black and white pictures were. With so many worthy attributes, one small fault certainly was not so important. Happily, Super Camera learned to "accentuate the positive, eliminate the negative, latch on to the affirmative" and use the talents that he had.

Freshman Stunt

Once in far-off and mysterious Ireland where leprechauns live and witches work, there came a strange and frightening visitor—a green giant. This Jolly Green Giant was certainly something new to the tiny elves who inhabited the countryside. Thinking that the leprechauns surely would not like or accept him because he was different, the poor green giant became quite "blue." However, when a treacherous witch came to harm the little woodland creatures, the giant showed how he cared for them and how he wanted to help them, by destroying the hateful witch. Who could dislike someone so kind and so much concerned for others? It was easy to see that, no matter how different he might be, a person should be judged solely by his inner worth and character.

Homecoming '65

1965 Homecoming activities were particularly brilliant. Almost everyone concerned seemed to try a little harder to make a good impression on the lovely lady shown on our cover who had only recently arrived on our campus. The day dawned cloudy, but by midmorning it was evident that it would be a perfect day. The brisk playing of the DHS set the mood for the awarding of spirit ribbons at the pep rally. The cheerleaders evoked more than the usual amount of pep from the mass of cheering DHS football fans on this long to be remembered day. As a novelty, the football coaches led the crowd in a rousing cheer. The pep rally ended with the fans' appetites whetted for the slaughter they knew would come that night . . .

After the pep rally the customary homecoming parade showed the city that Decatur spirit was at a new high. Whether or not someone had intentionally planned the new circular drive specifically for forming parades, the new feature proved ideal for such a purpose. At any rate something special was in the air that day making the entire procession seem more colorful than any parade in years. Janelle Cope was a radiant Homecoming Queen as she led her court at the head of the file . . .

The game began grandly with the team playing hard and the crowd supporting Decatur wholeheartedly. Then came halftime and its magic moment when the Homecoming Court was presented. Janelle Cope was crowned by last year's queen, Janel Espy, and Student Council Co-President Robert Vining presented a bouquet of red roses from the senior class to the beautiful new queen.

The fun was far from being over, however. The Student Council's victory dance in the Central Auditorium had been given special preparation and proved to be quite a treat. The swinging beat of the Kom-motions and the expert showmanship of Wayne Locuidici seemed to make a great impression on the crowd. In the closing minutes of the dance Cheer-leader Captain Linda Cole announced the winner of the annual Mr. Football contest, Decatur's all star captain, Tom Jones.

A Perfect Night for Decatur

One further activity was added to the Homecoming festivities, making it a triple crown week-end. The INDECATUR sponsored a Homecoming Concert by the ABC Paramount recording artists The Highwaymen. This group presented an evening of sparkling entertainment. A small but enthusiastic crowd was very appreciative of their folk music, which ranged from soft and pensive to lively and bright. Between musical numbers, the artists kept the audience in laughter with their somewhat unconventional and totally original humor. This unaccustomed treat of nationally known entertainment was the frosting on a perfect Homecoming cake.

The Reserve Officers Training Corps at Decatur High School has maintained its active program of military instruction and drill throughout the year. Capt. Richard M. McGowan, recent graduate of the Officers Career School at Fort Knox, became Professor of Military Science. Assisting him were SFC Marvin D. Maddox and S/Sgt. Arthur V. Alligood. S/Sgt. Gerald L. Hartley served here through September before being reassigned with the 25th Infantry Division serving in Viet Nam.

The Battalion, commanded by Cadet Lt. Col. Tom Jones, demonstrated excellent drill in the annual Veterans Day Parade and Sabre Day Ceremony. Cadets from each company and the drill team practiced the manual of arms in preparation for Military Honors' Day competition.

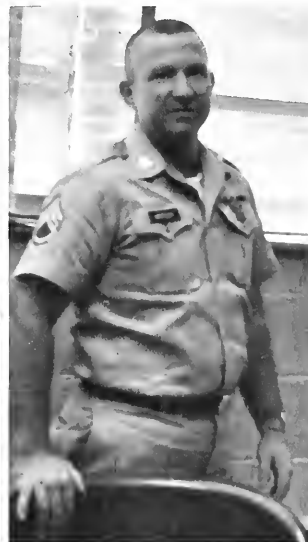

Other highlights of the military year included the annual Military Ball and the publication by the Officers' Club of the Dateline, the student and faculty directory. For the fourth consecutive year the Cadet corps was honored for collecting more money than any other Jr. ROTC unit in the Metropolitan Atlanta area in the annual Empty Stocking Fund Drive. Both the Varsity and Jr. Varsity Rifle Teams achieved fine records in their matches.

Decatur High School Parent-Teacher Association

If it were possible for us to cry "Encore!", it is moments such as these that we would like to live again . .

... a quiet gathering of congenial spirits fated to last only until the librarian comes to break it up ...

... eating candy in the INDECATUR Room while the advisers are away and can't catch us ...

... watching the thermometer plunge, hoping for a foot of snow to close the schools tomorrow ...

... facing a Stunt Night crisis with grim determination, nursing our wrath to keep it warm ...

... watching our Herb White, 6'2", on the way down after outjumping Grif-
finish victory over Griffin.

THE OPEN DOOR

Many doors have opened for us during our high school career. Some we have passed through and may not pass again. Some we pass through many times a day. The most important aspect of any door is that it offers us a way through an otherwise impassable wall. There are many barriers for us everywhere we turn, and there is almost always, if we look long enough to find it, a door to let us through any wall. Doors loom at us out of the darkness of the future; they open and they close. The important door here and now is not the one which is closing on the past, but the one which is opening into the future.

The INDECATUR Staff sincerely hopes that you the reader of the book will return again and again to this eventful year through this open door we leave you.

Behold, I have set before thee an open door, and no man can shut it.

-Revelation 3:8.
